“HIV Prevention for Black Heterosexual Men: The Barbershop Talk with Brothers Program”

Michael A. Joseph, Ph.D., M.P.H.

Vice Dean, School of Public Health

Associate Professor, Dept. of Epidemiology & Biostatistics

SUNY Downstate Medical Center

Few HIV risk reduction interventions exist that are specifically geared towards Black heterosexual men. This talk will discuss the challenges in designing and implementing the Barbershop Talk with Brothers Program-an HIV prevention program targeting high-risk sexual behaviors among heterosexual Black men recruited from Brooklyn barbershops.
