

KAVLI WORKSHOP

SOCIAL BEHAVIORS

DEC 11, 1 TO 5:30 PM
HOPE 110 - YSM CAMPUS

Registration:

AGENDA

1:00 pm Keynote	Dayu Lin, PhD Professor of Psychiatry & of Neuroscience and Physiology – NYU Langone Medical Center Win to fight and lose to flight: innate yet flexible social behaviors
2:00 pm	Angelique Bordey, PhD Professor of Neurosurgery – Yale School of Medicine Tuberous Sclerosis Complex: Insights into mTOR-driven Network Miswiring and Autism
2:20 pm	Anirvan Nandy, PhD Assistant Professor of Neuroscience – Yale School of Medicine Gaze dynamics of interacting marmoset pairs
2:40 pm	Break
3:00 pm	Olivia Meisner Graduate student, Interdepartmental Neuroscience Program – Yale School of Medicine Behavioral dynamics of mutual cooperation in marmosets
3:20 pm	Lin Lin, PhD Postdoctoral Associate, Department of Psychiatry – Yale School of Medicine Oxytocin supports the emergence of sensory and social information processing in the developing somatosensory cortex
3:40 pm	Joy Hirsch, PhD Professor of Psychiatry, of Comparative Medicine & of Neuroscience – Yale School of Medicine The Live Face Effect: Neural Circuitry for Social Interaction
4:00 pm	AZA Allsop, PhD Assistant Professor of Psychiatry – Yale School of Medicine Decoding mechanisms and creating tools for social connection
4:20 pm	Panel discussion With the speakers, workshop organizers, and the audience
4:50 pm	Reception

Organized by:
Steve Chang, PhD, Department of Psychology
Alicia Che, PhD, Department of Psychiatry

Kavli Institute for Neuroscience at Yale