Presented by: Yale School of Medicine's Department of Dermatology

“Lessons Learned from the other Side (of the Exam Table)”

Presented by:

Richard J. Antaya, M.D.
Professor of Dermatology and Pediatrics
Director, Pediatric Dermatology
Yale School of Medicine

February 13, 2019 – 10:00 a.m.

Fitkin Amphitheater, LMP 1094
789 Howard Avenue

Come along for a front seat ride through our modern medical system as we motor through challenges, frustrations, obstacles, and celebrations. Learn about, the speaker's daughter, Nicole Antaya's life with cystic fibrosis, CF-related diabetes, and lung transplantation. See how it impacted one family and learn some invaluable practical lessons that can be gained from this experience.

Objectives: Participant should: 1. be able to identify psychosocial implications of severe disease on patients and families. 2. have better insight into the effects of chronic disease on children and families. 3. identify strategies for a meaningful and fulfilling practice.
