

Yale SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Maternal Health Grand Rounds Research Discussion

VADM Jerome M. Adams, M.D., M.P.H. Surgeon General of the United States

The Yale School of Public Health (YSPH), in collaboration with the CT Department of Public Health, is honored to host VADM Jerome M. Adams, M.D., M.P.H. Dr. Adams is an American anesthesiologist and a vice admiral (VADM) in the U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps who currently serves as the 20th Surgeon General of the United States. Prior to becoming surgeon general, he served as the Indiana State Health Commissioner from 2014–2017. Dr. Adams' priorities include the opioid epidemic and addiction, oral health, and the links between community health and both economic prosperity and national security. In response to the opioid epidemic, Dr. Adams issued the first Surgeon General's Advisory in 13 years, urging more Americans to carry naloxone, an FDA-approved medication that can reverse the effects of an opioid overdose. During his visit to YSPH, Dr. Adams will meet with subject matter experts in maternal health and participate in Grand Rounds with medical residents, students, and faculty from the YSPH and the Yale Schools of Medicine and Nursing.

Monday, March 2, 2020
Yale School of Public Health
47 College Street
Rooms 106 A/B
3:30 - 4:15 pm

Eventbrite registration required

Light refreshments will be served from 3:15-3:30pm
Please consider bringing your own sustainable containers
Co-sponsored by the Office of Public Health Practice

