ACCREDITATION

The Yale School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

NEEDS ASSESSMENT

Calcium pyrophosphate disease is a condition commonly seen by rheumatologists. Thus, it is important for rheumatologists and trainees to review the most current understanding of its pathogenesis and management.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this activity, participants will have:

1. Recognize the clinical and radiographic manifestations of CPPD
2. Review existing and new data on classification and pathogenesis
3. Review the significant disease associations

DESIGNATION STATEMENT

The Yale School of Medicine designates this educational activity for 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)[™]. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

FACULTY DISCLOSURES

It is the policy of Yale School of Medicine, Continuing Medical Education, to ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all its educational programs.
