ACCREDITATION:

The Yale School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

ObGyn attending physicians, house staff/fellows, medical students, nurses, PA's, community Ob/Gyn's, residents, midwives, nurses and researchers.

NEEDS ASSESSMENT:

Physicians need to have a comprehensive understanding of FDA approval of medical devices and the unique regulatory issues that led to Essure being pulled from the market.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

At the end of this presentation, attendees will be able to:

1. Analyze existing data on hysteroscopic compared to laparoscopic sterilization
2. Critically evaluate the FDA's black box warning on Essure, restrictions on sale and distribution, and manufacturer's decision to stop production and distribution in light of emerging data.
3. Determine future directions for Essure research and clinical care, and implications for next generation hysteroscopic sterilization devices.
