

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL HEALTH OF REFUGEES: ADVANCING REFUGEE HEALTHCARE IN CONNECTICUT

Scan or Click Here to Register

Yale School of Medicine

Thursday, March 28th 5:30-7:30pm

TAC Auditorium, Room N107

300 Cedar Street, New Haven, CT

Dinner provided for those registered by March 25th

Maggie Mitchell Salem

Executive Director, Integrated Refugee & Immigrant Services

Julia Rosenberg

Associate Director, Yale Pediatric Immigrant and Refugee Clinic

Debra Riding

Director of Education, Integrated Refugee & Immigrant Services

Amed Logroño

Instructor of Medicine, Yale Department of Internal Medicine

Mitchel Jobble

State Refugee and Immigrant Health Coordinator, Connecticut Department of Public Health

Rona Rohbar

Health Office Manager, Integrated Refugee & Immigrant Services

Alison Stratton

Tuberculosis Control Program Manager, Connecticut Department of Public Health

Sneha Modi

Resident Physician, Yale Primary Care Internal Medicine Residency

Objectives

- Provide a statewide overview of changes in refugee resettlement in Connecticut
- Describe innovative opportunities for bidirectional support of the health and education of newly arrived refugee students
- Discuss an initiative to improve follow-up of subspecialty referrals in adult refugee patients
- Facilitate a solutions-oriented discussion of regional challenges involved in delivering healthcare to refugees

Conference organizers can be reached at refugee.health@yale.edu