

Advocacy Training for Climate Action

TUESDAYS & THURSDAYS IN FEBRUARY, 2021

12:00 TO 1:00 PM EST

NETWORKING HOUR: FEB 26, 4:00 TO 5:00 PM

PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED

*Interested in taking action on climate change issues but not sure where to start?
Already involved in climate advocacy and looking to build more skills and community?*

Whether you're new to advocacy or an experienced advocate, we invite you to join the workshop to learn tangible skills, network with other students, and build connections to local and national advocacy organizations.

SESSIONS ADDRESS HOW TO:

- Communicate your message in ways that motivate action.
- Learn the role of citizen science in building youth leadership skills and protecting biodiversity in Costa Rica.
- Create effective, fact-based messaging and op-eds by utilizing your personal stories and news resources.
- Contact your legislator, write a public comment letter, and other individual advocacy actions.
- Translate your role as a scientist or other scholar into effective advocacy.

PRESENTERS

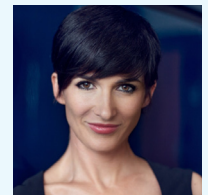

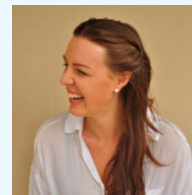

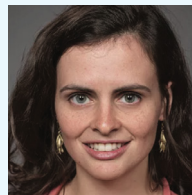

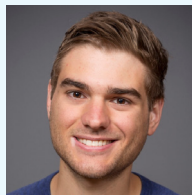

Daviana Berkowitz-Sklar
Yale College & Nature Now International

Rachel Hennein, Will Hancock-Cenutti, & Sadie Meller
Physicians for Social Responsibility at Yale

Eric Fine
Yale Program on Climate Change Communications

Sarah Sax, YSE '17
Climate Collective NYC

Zoe Chance
Yale School of Management

REGISTRATION

All Yale students are invited to participate, but registration is limited. To secure your space, complete the registration form.

QUESTIONS

Mauro Diaz-Hernandez
mauro.diaz-hernandez@yale.edu

REGISTER NOW

Yale SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH
Center on Climate Change and Health