The program will select and develop up to 10 innovative start-ups focused on areas of need including: infectious and vector-borne diseases; non-communicable diseases; maternal, child, and newborn health; water and sanitation; and urban health and the environment.

Selected start-ups will receive $70,000 in seed funding and participate in a 6-month accelerator curriculum at The CoWrks Foundry in India.

https://medicine.yale.edu/yigh/sustainable_health/