There is no corporate support for this activity. Accreditation: The Yale School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians. Target Audience: YSM faculty, fellows, nurses, residents, medical students, staff, and other health care providers. Designation Statement: The Yale School of Medicine designates this live activity for 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)[™]. Physicians should only claim the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity. Needs assessment: Need for greater awareness of the recommendations in recently published guidelines on the management of eosinophilic esophagitis (EoE). Prior studies have shown variability in the treatment of EoE (Hirano Gastroenterology 2020, Spergel JPGN 2011, Lipka J Clin Gastro 2018); There is a large unmet need in the management of EoE and eosinophilic gastroenteritis due to the limitations of currently used treatments and the absence of FDA approved medications (Rank Gastroenterology 2020). Objectives: Appreciate concerns with symptom-based management of eosinophilic esophagitis; Review advances in the treatment of eosinophilic esophagitis; Identify novel approaches to the management of eosinophilic gastroenteritis. Faculty Disclosures: A Masoud – Medtronic; I Hirano – Regeneron; Celgene/Receptos; Takeda/Shire; Elodi/Adare; AstraZeneca; Arena; Esocap; Gossamer Bio; Allakos. It is the policy of Yale School of Medicine, Continuing Medical Education, to ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all its educational programs. All faculty participating as speakers in these programs are required to disclose any relevant financial relationship(s) they (or spouse or partner) have with a commercial interest that benefits the individual in any financial amount that has occurred within the past 12 months; and the opportunity to affect the content of CME about the products or services of the commercial interests. The Center for Continuing Medical Education will ensure that any conflicts of interest are resolved before the educational activity occurs. This course will fulfill the licensure requirement set forth by the State of Connecticut.
