ACCREDITATION:

The Yale School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

ObGyn attending physicians, house staff/fellows, medical students, nurses, PA's, community Ob/Gyn's, residents, midwives, nurses and researchers.

NEEDS ASSESSMENT:

Medical societies committed to improving the care of midlife women and optimizing education for health care providers have identified a clinical gap related to androgen therapy for women. This knowledge need is supported by the recent publication of extensive guidelines related to the use of testosterone for women by 10 International Menopause Societies.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

At the end of this presentation, attendees will be able to:

1. Understand the causes of low androgens for women;
2. Assess the association between androgen levels and female sexual function; and
3. Evaluate the role of testosterone in the treatment of female sexual dysfunction.

DESIGNATION STATEMENT

The Yale School of Medicine designates this live activity for 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
