NEEDS ASSESSMENT

Many graduate and undergraduate programs have started to implement entrustable professional activities (EPAs), to innovate their workplace and curricula and optimize assessment. This Grand Rounds will focus on known difficulties of workplace-based assessment of medical trainees and how EPAs and entrustment decision making may potentially alleviate some.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the end of this activity, participants will be able to:

1. Understanding of the nature and role of entrustable professional activities in competency-based medical education
2. Understanding the difference between competencies and EPAs
3. Awareness of common difficulties for frontline clinical teachers in workplace-based assessment
4. Understand of the rationale of entrustment decision making as a focus of workplace-based assessment.

DESIGNATION STATEMENT

The Yale School of Medicine designates this live activity for 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)[™]. Physicians should only claim the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
