

Yale Alumni Association

invites you

DiversAbility: Addressing Disability, Equity & Inclusion at Yale and Beyond

While some people live with disability from birth, many of us can expect to experience disability at some point in our lives. Disability affects nearly 1 in 5 Americans, yet despite this reality, widespread misunderstandings, misconceptions and stigma continue to surround disability and those who live with disabilities. Join us for an informative, robust discussion and learn more about the ways disability and accessibility are being addressed at Yale and across the country. This event is free with lunch provided—registration is required.

Speaker Lineup

- Janni Lehrer-Stein '78 (moderator) – Attorney and Disability Rights Advocate; served two terms on the National Council on Disability under President Obama
- Jim Conroy '70 – Co-president, Pennhurst Memorial & Preservation Alliance, part of a growing national coalition championing the establishment of a National Museum of Disability History and Civil Rights
- Sarah Scott Chang, JD – Director, Yale Resource Office on Disabilities
- Paige Lawrence (Yale College, Class of 2021) – President, Disability Empowerment for Yale (DEFY) student group
- Sarah Poggi '96 MD – Physician and Medical Director, Inova Alexandria Antenatal Testing Center

Wednesday, October 30, 2019

12:00 – 1:15 PM

Yale University
New Haven, CT

For more info and/or to register, click here or go to:
<https://diversability-yale-2019.eventbrite.com>