ACCREDITATION

The Yale School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor continuing medical education for physicians.

NEEDS ASSESSMENT

This forum has been chosen to update and educate medical students, pediatric residents, specialty fellows, pediatric faculty and staff clinicians regarding pediatric palliative care.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Review progress in Pediatric Palliative Care (PPC) provision in North America since the 2003 IOM Report
- Identify areas where PPC can potentially improve clinical outcomes in tertiary children’s hospitals and services in 2014
- Become familiar with the major domains of pediatric palliative care

CME CREDIT

This educational activity is designated for a maximum of 1 Category 1 credit toward the AMA Physician’s Recognition Award. Each physician should claim only those hours of credit that he/she actually spent in the educational activity.

FACULTY DISCLOSURES

It is the policy of Yale School of Medicine, Continuing Medical Education, to ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all its educational programs. All faculty participating as speakers in these programs are required to disclose any relevant financial relationship(s) they (or spouse or partner) have with a commercial interest that benefits the individual in any financial amount that has occurred within the past 12 months; and the opportunity to affect the content of CME about the products or services of the commercial interests. The Center for Continuing Medical Education will ensure that any conflicts of interest are resolved before the educational activity occurs.
