

Advocacy Training for Climate Action

Friday, January 31

1:00 to 5:30 PM

5:30 to 6:30 PM social hour

Seats limited; pre-registration required

Interested in taking action on climate change but not sure where to start?

Already involved in climate advocacy and looking to build more skills and community?

Whether you're new to advocacy or an experienced advocate, we invite you to join the workshop to learn tangible skills, network with other students, and build connections to local and national advocacy organizations.

Sessions address how to:

- ☞ Communicate your message in ways that motivate action
- ☞ Employ social media and traditional media as effective advocacy tools
- ☞ Build power through collective action by centering social justice in advocacy
- ☞ Contact your legislator, write a public comment letter, and other individual advocacy actions
- ☞ Translate your role as a scientist or other scholar into effective advocacy

PRESENTERS

Mariya Taher

Topos Partnerships

Taylor Mayes & John Humphries

Connecticut Roundtable on Climate and Jobs

Paulina Muratore & Dan Gatti

The Union of Concerned Scientists

Dwayne David Paul & Rachel Scott

Collaborative Center for Justice

See the full agenda and trainer bios.

All Yale students are invited to participate, but registration is limited.

To secure your space, complete the online registration form by January 25th.

Questions? Contact Melpo Vasiliou at melpomene.vasiliou@yale.edu

Yale SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH
Center on Climate Change and Health

Sponsored by the Yale Center on Climate Change and Health in partnership with the Union of Concerned Scientists.