The Yale Center for GI Cancers: Challenges and Opportunities

Pamela L. Kunz, MD

Associate Professor of Internal Medicine (Medical Oncology);
Director, Center for GI Cancers; Chief, GI Medical Oncology

Mandar Deepak Muzumdar, MD

Assistant Professor of Genetics and Medicine (Medical Oncology); Assistant Director of Research Engagement, Center for GI Cancers

Needs: GI cancers represent many of the leading causes of cancer and cancer death in the US and there is a lack of understanding of the short and long- term goals of the GI Center and opportunities for community engagement from our scientific and clinical partners.

Objectives: Review the state of treatment and unmet needs for GI cancers in 2021 and explain the role of the new Yale Center for GI Cancers in meeting these needs.
