

Yale SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Health Policy & Management

Pharmaceutical Policies in the U.S. and China in Comparative Perspective

Tao Fan, PhD, Pharmaceutical Health Services Research

Senior Director, Takeda Pharmaceutical Company

Dr. Tao Fan is Senior Director and TA Head of US Value and Evidence Generation, Takeda Pharmaceuticals. In his 18 years in pharmaceutical industry, Dr. Fan held various positions in several multinational pharmaceutical companies including Merck, Sanofi, GSK, and Takeda. He had global and regional responsibilities across Health Economics & Outcomes Research, Market Access, Medical Affairs, and R&D functions. With his guidance, Tao led team developing numerous value & price strategies, health economics & HTA, real world & clinical evidence for numerous innovative medicines worldwide. His work covers metabolic diseases, rheumatic diseases, neurological diseases, oncological diseases, gastrointestinal diseases, hematologic diseases, musculoskeletal diseases, and respiratory diseases. Tao conducted numerous real-world studies, registries, observational studies, health economic models, patient-reported outcomes measures and authored many publications.

Wednesday, February 23, 2022

10:00-11:10am ET

47 College 106B and via Zoom

Click:

<https://yale.zoom.us/j/94450304896?from=addon>

Meeting ID: 944 5030 4896

Or scan this code to join:

Dr. Fan is a guest lecturer for HPM 645: The Chinese and U.S. Health Systems in Comparative Perspective