

Yale SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

2016-2017 Bioethics Interest Group

Yale University School of Medicine
Sterling Hall of Medicine
Steiner Room SHM L-210 | 333 Cedar Street, New Haven
5:30 to 7:00 PM

- September 20, 2016 Inaugural Dinner and Discussion
Mark Mercurio, MD, MA
Chief, Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine; Director, Program for Biomedical Ethics, Yale School of Medicine
- October 18, 2016 Ethical Implications of PrEP treatment for HIV
Kevin O'Hara, MS, PA-C
Assistant Professor in the Physician Associate Program, Department of Medicine
- November 15, 2016 Maternal-fetal Conflict
David Hersh, MD
Assistant Professor of Pediatrics; Medical Director, School Age & Adolescent Unit; Director, Pediatric Subinternship Program, Yale School of Medicine; Director of the Pediatric Ethics Committee, Yale New Haven Children's Hospital
- January 17, 2017 Assisted Suicide and Ethics of End-of-Life Care
Lydia Dugdale, MD
Assistant Professor of Medicine (General Medicine); Associate Director, Program for Biomedical Ethics; Editor of Dying in the Twenty-First Century: Toward a New Ethical Framework for the Art of Dying Well
- February 21, 2017 Ethical Considerations in Access to Care for Undocumented Persons
Michael K. Gusmano, PhD, MA
Research Scholar, The Hastings Center, Garrison, NY; Adjunct Assistant Professor, Health Policy and Management, Columbia University
- March 21, 2017 Forced Medication of Psychiatric Patients
Howard Zonana, MD
Professor of Psychiatry and Professor (Adjunct) of Law
- April 18, 2017 Neuroethics and the Ethics of Neuroenhancing Medication
Evie Marcolini, MD
Assistant Professor of Emergency Medicine and of Neurology

Student leaders:

Eli Neustadter (Medical School 2019) and Christina Carbone (Physician Associate Program 2017)
The student-run Bioethics Interest Group offers a monthly forum for medical, nursing, public health and physician assistant students at Yale University School of Medicine to explore issues related to ethics in the training, practice, governance, history and philosophy of medicine. The group offers educational seminars, advocates for the medical ethics in the greater Yale community and facilitates medical students' participation in the ethical life of the medical center and university at large.

Dinner will be provided and an RSVP is requested for each meeting. RSVP to 203.737.5943 or karen.kolb@yale.edu