TARGET AUDIENCE

Department faculty, attending physicians, subspecialty fellows, community physicians, resident house staff, physician assistants and medical students.

NEEDS ASSESSMENT

The presentation on CNS vasculitis from a neurologist will help provide a unique perspective on a condition that rheumatologists are often called on for help with management.

CNS vasculitis has many forms, including as part of well-described autoimmune disorders and but also as a mimic of autoimmune disorders. This presentation will help rheumatologists learn some of the differences.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this activity, participants will be able to:

1. To review the clinical presentation of primary CNS vasculitis
2. To describe the differential diagnosis of primary CNS vasculitis

DESIGNATION STATEMENT

The Yale School of Medicine designates this live activity for 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
