

WHY BE AFRAID?

Yale Palliative Medicine CME Program

Wednesday
November 13, 2019
4:00pm - 6:00pm
West Campus
Conference Center

Overview:

A part of this program will use theatrical devices to tell the story of how palliative medicine is supportive of curative care in any medical setting with patients living with serious illnesses. In the context of a growing population of people of all ages living for many years with serious chronic conditions, spread of new care models and new skills organized around the dominant needs of this group are necessary. In the last decade, accumulating evidence demonstrates the value of palliative care approaches in terms of both improved quality and satisfaction, and greater efficiency of care.

Accreditation Statement

The Yale School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Designation Statement

The Yale School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 2 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity

For registration details, please visit the Yale CME website at <https://yale.cloud-cme.com/default.aspx>