~ RESEARCHERS AND COLLABORATORS WELCOME ~

The Yale School of Medicine Interdisciplinary Prostate Research group will conduct a multi-disciplinary research symposium to explore present and future collaborations within the University that could support an application for a Specialized Programs of Research Excellence, or SPORE, grant.

The goals of the conference are to

- (1) Demonstrate the current research strengths of YSM scientists and physicians,
- (2) Identify collaborative translational research projects focused on the advancement of prostate cancer screening, prevention, diagnosis and treatment, and
- (3) Develop a roadmap for future research and SPORE application.

We welcome interested researchers across disciplines to join us for an engaging update in current prostate research as well as to participate in an interactive discussion of future directions and collaborations in prostate research at Yale.
