FUNDING OPPORTUNITY: COVID SUPPLEMENTAL FUNDING

During the COVID-19 pandemic, faculty investigators were forced to pause their research programs resulting in delays in conducting experiments and studies that lead to publication or provide preliminary data for grants. The purpose of this RFP for COVID supplemental funding is to provide a mechanism of funding support for research-focused faculty whose work was delayed due to COVID-19.

The Yale School of Medicine Dean's Office will provide $30,000 in research funds to supplement current start-up and early career funding for eligible faculty, as defined within the funding description. This funding will be matched by $20,000 to $30,000 from the faculty member's department.
