

Yale SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Epidemiology of Microbial Diseases

EMD Seminar Series

Dr. Caroline Buckee

Associate Professor of Epidemiology

Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

“The role of new technologies in surveillance and control of infectious diseases”

New approaches to understanding infectious diseases are helping improve their surveillance and control, despite growing challenges associated with urbanization and migration in the 21st century. Here I will discuss the use of mobility data and genomic data in particular, and how their integration in mathematical models can be used by control programs.

12:00 PM Thursday, February 6, 2020

47 College Street, Room 106B

Host: A. Bei

