

Yale

SEPT.
30 2022

CHANGE TALKS

NATIONAL WATER CRISIS:

WHAT MISSISSIPPI MEANS FOR THE REST OF THE COUNTRY

WITH ANGELO PINTO, ESQ.

YALE UNIVERSITY, COMMUNITY ACTIVIST IN RESIDENCE

Jackson Mississippi is currently experiencing a major water crisis . There will be no reliable running water in Jackson, which will impact up to 180,000 people until this is fixed. The city cant produce enough water for serious needs, including fighting fires and flushing toilets. This did not happen over night. Will discuss how this happened and why urban communities across the country are experiencing this unnatural disasters.

WHERE: WINSLOW AUDITORIUM
YALE SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH
60 COLLEGE ST, NEW HAVEN CT 06510

DATE: SEPTEMBER 30TH, 2022

TIME: 1:00PM

REFRESHMENTS WILL BE SERVED

REGISTRATION REQUIRED | PLEASE SCAN EVENTBRITE BARCODE ABOVE