William K. Oh, MD, is Service Line Medical Director of Smilow Cancer Hospital at Greenwich Hospital, as well as Director of Precision Medicine for Yale Cancer Center and Smilow Cancer Hospital. In his role at Greenwich Hospital, Dr. Oh serves as the oncology service line leader and regional physician leader for lower Fairfield and Westchester Counties.

As a genitourinary oncologist, Dr. Oh has decades of experience caring for patients with prostate cancer. Before his appointment at Yale, Dr. Oh served as the Chief Medical Officer and Executive Vice President of the Prostate Cancer Foundation, where he focused on barriers to the delivery of care for prostate cancer nationally. Previously, he was System Chief of Hematology and Medical Oncology at Mount Sinai Health System as well as Deputy Director of the Tisch Cancer Institute. He is committed to increasing the routine use of molecular and genetic testing for all patients with cancer, a goal he has been committed to throughout his career.

Dr. Oh received his medical degree from New York University School of Medicine, and did his internship and residency at Brigham and Women's Hospital before his clinical fellowship in medical oncology at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.
