Attention all Yale Students! Interested in Global Health?

Now forming a Yale team to compete in the 2019 International Emory Global Health Case Competition

We need you – come learn more...

Wednesday, February 6th
12 – 1pm
47 College Street, Suite 108

The competition is a unique opportunity for students from multiple universities and disciplines to come together to learn about, develop, and recommend innovative solutions for a 21st century global health problem.

Applicant teams must include four to six students from at least three different schools across Yale.

The Yale team will be funded to compete for a cash prize at the Emory competition, taking place in Atlanta, Georgia from Friday, March 15 and Saturday, March 16, 2019.
