The Program for Humanities in Medicine presents...

Crowdsourcing: Way Beyond the Second Opinion

Join us for a screening of an episode of the Netflix series Diagnosis, followed by a conversation with
Dr. Lisa Sanders and Dr. Juliette Spelman.

After suffering from repeat seizures, Willie, a 47 year-old Gulf War veteran, begins to show signs of memory loss. After local doctors hit a dead end he goes to the Mayo Clinic in Phoenix, AZ. He has two brain biopsies and countless scans and blood tests but, in the end, no diagnosis is made. Where can he go from here?

Lisa Sanders, MD, FACP
