ACCREDITATION:

The Yale School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

Attending physicians, house staff, fellows, medical students, PA's

NEEDS ASSESSMENT:

Religious or spiritual beliefs are important for many patients. Clinicians therefore should know how to address the spiritual needs of their patients while providing care to meet their patients' physical and psychosocial needs.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

1. Recognize the historical basis for spiritual care as intrinsic to the practice of medicine
2. Describe how physicians have a unique responsibility to address the spiritual needs of their patients
3. Outline the role of physician as “primary spiritual care provider” within a biopsychosocial-spiritual model of care

DESIGNATION STATEMENT

The Yale School of Medicine designates this live activity for 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
